The work of the volunteer services covers a varied program in the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

With each corps geared to 100 per cent active service throughout the war years, the post-war time finds them turning their efforts to peace-time work at home and in the war-devastated countries. This year will find a new service in the program, that of establishing blood centers. Establishment of blood centers is financed through contributions made in the annual Red Cross campaign. The program is long range in its aspects and will require from three to five years to reach full operation. At that time an estimated 3,700,000 pints of whole blood annually will be needed to meet requirements

The following is one of a series of articles describing the services of the American Red Cross in connection with the 1948 nation-wide fund campaign now in progress. A goal of $75,000,000 has been set for the nation and Marion county's quota is $25,985. Of the quota to be raised in Marion city and county $14,105, or 54 per cent, will remain here and $11,880 will be forwarded to national headquarters.

Edwin D. Young was taken to Columbus this afternoon to begin a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary for the slaying of Mrs. Zora Gerbes.

He left in custody of Sheriff LeRoy Retterer, deputy George L. Conroy and special guard Howard Corbin, of Marion. Sheriff Retterer expected to turn Young over to Warden Ralph Alvis at the penitentiary about 3 p. m. The party left here shortly after 1 p. m.

Young was sentenced Wednesday morning by Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith. Committal papers were completed by the clerk of courts later in the day.

His attorney Paul D. Michel will take the case to the Third District Court of Appeals. Michel said he would seek to have the offense lowered. He has 30 days in which to file notice of appeal.

GOODYEAR CUTS TIRE PRODUCTION

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., March 4—A dwindling buyer demand resulted in a 30 per cent production slash today by the Goodyear Tire & rubber Co. A company statement said "sales fell off sharply during January, and February after maintaining record peacetime highs for two years."

It added, however, "this does not mean that the bottom has dropped out of the tire market, but rather that the big postwar demand finally has been filled."

The company employs about 17,000 production employes here and 7,000 will be affected. Manufacture of passenger and truck tire tubes will not be affected.

Battleship Pennsylvania, Jap Nemesis, Scuttled by Navy

By The Associated Press

PEARL HARBOR, March 4—The battleship Pennsylvania, survivor of the Pearl Harbor debacle and two atomic blasts, was scuttled near Kwajalein Feb. 10, the Navy announced today.

"Damage received at Okinawa was mainly responsible for the Pennsylvania's unseaworthiness and not damage inflicted during the atomic bomb tests" at Bikini in July, 1946, the Navy said.

Two other warships, termed victims of "progressive deterioration," also were scuttled last month. They were the destroyer Trippe, sunk Feb. 3, and the attack transport Banner, sunk Feb. 16.

The Navy said the Pennsylvania could not have remained afloat much longer in Kwajalein lagoon. She was towed there after the Bikini atom tests. She was considered a possible menace to shipping if she sank in the lagoon, as did the Prinz Eugen. Both were guinea pigs of the Bikini tests.

The "Mighty P," as the Navy calls her, recovered from the Pearl Harbor attack to strike at the Japanese 13 times with 11,000,000 pounds of steel—more than was fired by any other battleship in history.

Off Okinawa, 59 hours before the war ended, an aerial torpedo ripped the Pennsylvania's stern and killed 20 men.

She was commissioned March 16, 1915. She had a displacement of 33,000 tons and was 608 feet in length with a beam of 106 feet, three inches. She carried 12 fourteen-inch guns, 16 five-inchers and many smaller weapons.

Marion Man Aboard "Mighty P" 17 Months

Robert C. Haldeman of 868 South Prospect street, who served as a lieutenant, junior grade, during World War II, was aboard the battleship Pennsylvania during 17 months of its history-making service in the Pacific war zone. During these 17 months, the ship participated in campaigns which led to the capture of the various island areas—the Gilberts, Marshalls, Marianas, western Carolines and Philippines. The Marianas campaign included conquest of the vital Japanese stronghold on Saipan and recapture of Guam and in the Philippines were listed the invasion of Leyte and the invasion of Lubon through Lingayen gulf. Mr. Haldeman, during his service aboard the Pennsylvania, was in charge of repairs and damage control in his section of the ship.

He is now employed as a salesman with the Probst Supply Co.

RUSH ON BONUS FILING AT END

Curtailment of Special Assistance Started as Demand for Aid Slackens.

The rush of veterans to obtain state bonus application forms, which early this week jammed assistance offices throughout the county, had, in the words of County Veterans Service Officer John R. Schwartz, "slowed to a walk," today.

In line with the decline in demand by veterans for application forms and assistance in preparing them, Fred B. Scherff, manager of the Marion Ohio State Employment Service office and Service Officer Schwartz announced today "the employment office will no longer be open evenings for the purpose of assisting veterans in completing the bonus application forms because it is believed the majority of veterans have completed these forms, and those who have not may obtain assistance at the G. I. Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Bird McGinnis Post American Legion, AMVETS, 162 Club, and other organizations assisting in this activity."

Reports received this noon from Red Cross authorities indicated a similar decline in demand for assistance. Volunteer staffs will remain on duty until 8 p. m. tonight and Friday and until noon Saturday.

All other veterans assistance facilities will continue to function, Schwartz said, until notification is received by the county service office of a discontinuance of such services. The County Veterans Service Office will continue to assist in the preparation of veterans bonus forms. The deadline set by the bonus act, for submission of application forms is Jan. 1, 1950.

"I'M STILL A NAZI," SAYS CAPTURED FRAU

By The Associated Press

TUBINGEN, Germany, March 4 — Frau Gertrud Scholtz-Klink Heissmeyer, who was the fuehrer of Germany's women in the Nazi days, declared today: "I am still a Nazi—as much as ever."

But her voice as she said it was soft, almost meek.

Then, clenching her fist, she said:

"Hitler still lives for me and my husband."

But, she added, she and her husband, Maj. Gen. August Heissmeyer, both believe Hitler and Deputy Fuehrer Martin Bormann are dead.

Frau Heissmeyer, her once blonde hair faded and her once buxom figure covered by a shabby man's coat, talked with an interviewer today for the first time since she was arrested last weekend by American, French and German police.

Gen. Heissmeyer, apprehended with her, spent most of his time during the interview trying to shush his wife. They are being held in a small French prison here.

She said she escaped from Berlin on May 2, 1945, after being wounded five times.

OHIO'S NEW TEACHER NEED SET AT 3,000 ANNUALLY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 4—Ohio's public schools will need 3,000 new teachers annually for the next five years, the executive secretary of the Ohio Education association says.

Walton B. Bliss of Columbus said an "acute shortage" of lower-grade instructors was number one of three problems facing state educators.

The other two, he declared, are how to secure passage of a school aid program before congress and how to obtain additional state financial assistance.

Bliss spoke last night before the Cleveland area discussion group of the State High School Principal's association.

ASKS MILITARY AID FOR CHINA

Wedemeyer Claims Economic Help Must Be Backed Up by Military Support.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer today proposed military aid for China.

"We are going to pay in blood" if proper steps are not taken by America to stop the spread of Communism, Wedemeyer told the house foreign affairs committee.

"I don't think dollars alone will stop the spread of Communism anywhere," the one-time chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang-Kai-shek continued. The administration has proposed $570,000,000 aid to China without military help.

He said economic aid abroad should be backed up with military support. But, Wedemeyer made plain he is talking about military aid and not military participation.

He said military aid means sending competent officers to advise in the use of weapons where a country has been given economic aid.

"I don't believe military participation is necessary at this time," he added at the committee hearing on the China aid measure.

Out to Destroy

Wedemeyer said Communism "is out to destroy everything we hold dear."

Wedemeyer said $200,000,000 "would have helped China immeasurably" two years ago.

"But today," he added, "I don't think I would recommend $500,-

Delivery is not expected until early in 1950 because of the heavy backlog of orders placed by railroads for passenger equipment.

COUNCIL TAKES RECESS

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, March 4 — The security council is stuck on what to do about Palestine, and delegates took a 24-hour recess today to do some private talking about the problem. The official reason given for the one-day adjournment was the illness of Camille Chamoun, special Lebanon representative in the council. The unofficial reason is United Nations delegates want more time to try and work something out

President Gracely Releases Annual Statement.

Announcement of a new recapitalization plan for the Marion Power Shovel Co. was announced yesterday in the annual statement of the company which showed record net sales in 1947.

The report, released by Harvey T. Gracely, president, listed 1947 net sales at $19,880,380, an increase of $10,464,394 over the $9,415,986 in 1946.

The company reported net income of $993,438 after providing $250,000 for inventory price declines and other contingencies and equal to $3.55 a share on the 253,815 shares of common stock outstanding, following provision for 7 per cent dividends on the 13,200 shares of preferred stock. These earnings, however, are shown without giving consideration to the arrearages on the preferred stock.

Marion Power Shovel Co. in an accompanying letter announced that common stockholders would be asked to approve a new recapitalization plan at the annual meeting, April 5, in Marion. Under the proposed plan, common shareholders would be asked to authorize a new issue of 52,800 shares of 5 per cent ($25 par value) cumulative preferred stock which would rank junior to the present 7 per cent preferred. The common stockholders also would be requested to authorize a new issue of 52,800 shares of $1.25 ($26 par value) cumulative preferred stock convertible into common stock on the basis of two shares of common for each share of convertible preferred. It would rank junior to the new 5 per cent preferred stock.

Letter Explains Plan

In the letter outlining the recapitalization plan, it was emphasized that if the common stockholders approve the creation of these two new preferreds, an offer will be made to each 7 per cent preferred shareholder to exchange on a voluntary basis each share of his 7 per cent preferred stock, including dividend arrearages for four shares of 5 per cent ($25 par value) preferred and four shares of $1.25 convertible preferred, plus $8 in cash. The total par value of the securities and cash offered in exchange, will amount to $2.12. The offer will be made to the holders of the preferred stock contingent upon its acceptance by the holders of 90 per cent thereof, although the board of directors may declare the plan effective upon the acceptance by a lesser percentage, if, in its discretion, the circumstances warrant.

"The removal of the preferred dividend arrearages, and a continuation of the companys' present volume of business," the letter stated "will clear the way for the consideration of the payment of dividends upon the common stock within the forseeable future."

The balance sheet in the annual report shows as of Dec. 31 last, total current assets of $12,240,530 compared with total current assets of $7,384,040, at the close of 1946. Current liabilities were $5,929,979 compared with $2,288,220. Working capital totaled $6,310,545 compared with $5,095,819 in 1946.

Sub Contractors Used

In his remarks to stockholders in the annual report, Mr. Gracely declared that because sales greatly exceeded the capacity of the company's principal plant in Marion, it was necessary to place considerable manufacturing with subcontractors. The work ranged from the production of individual small parts and assembled units to the manufacture of complete machines. According to the report, this method resulted "in placing more Marion machines in operation, thereby augmenting our shipment volume for the year." It went on to say, "The practice of utilizing sub-contractors for assistance in the manufacture of our products will be continued during 1948 and the experience gained by them on previous work should be helpful in obtaining a greater volume from this source."

The company's backlog at the close of 1947 was the largest amount of unfilled orders on the company's books at any year and in its history. Unless unforeseen interruptions arise, Mr. Gracely said, the volume of shipments of Marion Power Shovel Co. products in 1948 should exceed those of 1947 by 25 per cent in dollar volume.

Marion Power Shovel Co. in December last leased a former government-owned war plant in Cambridge, O., from the Community Industrial Associaiton (a civic non-profit organization) withwith option to purchase. This step was taken to expand the manufacturing of fabricated structural units and for complete manufacture of walking draglines. The plant comprises 116,000 square feet of floor space.

Steel Problem Eased

The company faced considerable last year to clear the steel log-jam and inaugurate a plan of buying all steel casting requirements

Galion Kiwanis Dine At Crawford Co. Home

Special to The Star

GALION—Members and guests of the Galion Kiwanis club had dinner at the Crawford county Children's Home Tuesday, after which they saw the film, "Tomorrow's Citizens," a sound colored movie which portrays the life at the home, and work of the Child Welfare Board of Crawford county. The program was planned by Marvin Adams, superintendent of the Home, and the dinner was prepared and served under the direction of Mrs. Adams and the Home staff.

Robert Moulton, club president, announced that the Kiwanis club will be co-sponsor with the music department of the Galion schools in bringing the Ohio State university symphony orchestra to Galion April 6. Sale of tickets will be in charge of Paul Nollen, and arrangements to house the orchestra members over night will be in charge of Marvin Adams.

Guests of the club were Arthur Manzer, Harold Blosser, Marion E. Shank, Hursel L. Ekin, Dr. Clarence Adams, Don King and Charles Monroe. The latter spoke briefly in appreciation of his being invited to the meeting because of his late father's connection with the Kiwanis club and the Home.

OHIO FARMERS SEE ANDERSON

Hear Cabinet Member Say It's Time To Push Long-Range Farm Program.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson told a delegation of 30 Ohio Farmers Wednesday that now is the time to push for congressional action on a long-range farm program.

"I don't care what party gets credit for passing it," Secy. Anderson said. "I just want to get it passed.

"It will be easier to get a program now than after the election. After an election, somebody's always angry. The winners, both Democrats and Republicans, count the returns and think they should have gotten more votes from certain areas. Then, they get angry."

Anderson talked with a "grass roots" delegation from the Ohio Farm Bureau. Each delegate was elected by fellow farmers in his congressional district and sent to Washington to tell congress how farmers feel about the need for farm legislation, the European recovery program, and farmer cooperatives.

Each delegate visited his own congressman and then the group dropped in on Anderson for "some tips."

"I'm hopeful something will be done at this congress on a long-range farm program and price support," Anderson said. "When will you ever be in better shape to give your congressmen the facts about what is needed?"

The Ohio farmers agreed. They support the American Farm Bureau Federation plan for a long-range farm program which would lower price supports to a sliding range of 60 to 90 per cent of parity. The present temporary wartime program sets price support at a minimum of 90 per cent of parity. It expires Dec. 31 if no long-range program is enacted, the federation wants the present law extended another year.

Harry W. Culbreth, Ohio Farm Bureau organization director, asked Anderson if he had any advice on what to do about growing attacks on farmer cooperatives.

Secy. Anderson said that 99 per cent of all farm cooperatives are "good."

He said there was no reason for the entire cooperative movement to be attacked.

MT. GILEAD MAN AMONG REPRESENTATIVES PRESENT

Farmers in the Eighth Congressional district were represented at the conference by F. O. Van Sickle, Mt. Gilead general farmer. The Seventh district representative was Herman Ankeney, dairy farmer of Xenia, O. and the Seventeenth district by Ferris Owen, Newark potato grower. The Seventh district includes Union county and the Seventeenth district, Delaware county.

MUSIC CLUB SETS CONCERT MARCH 15

Lecture-Recital Chorus Will Sing at Edison School.

The annual Lecture-Recital club chorus spring concert has been set for Monday, March 15, and will be held at Edison Junior High school auditorium. Rehearsals have been under way for several weeks. Besides the several numbers which will be presented by the chorus, Mrs. Margaret Sutter of Columbus, harpist will be heard. The chorus under direction of Miss Elizabeth Edgar, is preparing its program in keeping with the season, and a group of sacred numbers, in appropriate setting, including arrangements of spirituals will open the program. A variety of tempo and expression will characterize the rest of the program which will be predominately in the "spring" mood.

Mrs. H. K. Mouser, chairman for ticket sales, has announced that the tickets are in the hands of members of the club and chorus and may be obtained from them. A group of 65 composes the chorus of which Mrs. Clara Campbell, club president, is a member. Mrs. Carter Patton is chorus president. Extra rehearsals have been arranged in addition to the regular Thursday night practices each week.

Andrew Carnegie Knew

KEY to the hubbub over recent price increases in certain lines of semi-finished steel is the industry's basic position in the national economy. Statements by some steel executives that they can't understand why anyone should be excited about the increases sound as if they didn't understand this position.

They apparently believe that as producers of steel they should have the same obscurity in which manufacturers of flour sacks or rubber heels conduct their business affairs. No one would expect these industries to be called before the joint economic committee of congress, as the steel men have been called, to explain minor price increases.

It is, of course, the extreme importance of steel that denies its leaders the privilege of obscurity. Everything that steel does, everything that affects steel, has an impart sooner or later on everything that happens in the United States. In present circumstances, it is even greater than that, because steel has an impact on the whole world. When steel spokesmen told the joint economic committee that the decision of United States Steel Corp. to revise its price structure in certain lines immediately affected most of the industry, they themselves acknowledged their power over the whole economy.

Fine points of the steel industry's responsibility for its impact on economic affairs are debatable; that's why the joint economic committee is having an investigation—to understand the situation better. When the fine points are debated, the career of Andrew Carnegie must come to mind. He made a continuous study of the steel industry's responsibility to the economic organization of the nation and the world. He never would have been surprised at a hubbub in the wake of price increases when it was just beginning to look as if price inflation had been checked.

School the Year Around

ELEMENTARY schools would be vastly changed under 93 recommendations a commission of educators has submitted to the American Association of School Administrators.

Schools would operate six days a week the year round with a month of time off and Saturdays devoted to recreation and extra-curricular activities. No school would have more than 500 pupils. Instead of annual or semi-annual promotions, each pupil would advance when in his teacher's opinion he was ready to do so. Every effort would be made to raise the standards for elementary teachers, whose pay would be increased because of full-time duty. All this would double the cost of elementary education, bringing the bill to more than $4,000,000,000.

To the lay mind, the most striking suggestion is the elimination of the summer vacation, a holdover from the days when the nation was largely rural and children were needed to help with the crops. It is an arrangement established by custom and never changed because no one has undertaken to change it since the days when students in England devoted the three summer months to traveling on the continent.

It's a high goal the commission has set and a laudable one, but it's far from realization in a country where 21 states still spend less than $99 a year per pupil on education.

Calm Spot in a Rough Sea

OF ALL the southern states, North Carolina received President Truman's civil rights program with the least commotion. Only two of its 12 representatives are among the 51 southern congressmen who threaten a party split over the issue. The prevailing attitude, reports a New York Times correspondent, appears to be one which approves the program, yet understands southern feeling on such matters.

North Carolina's race relations are the best in the South. It abolished the poll tax 28 years ago and has long since adopted a teachers' pay equalization bill. Those who would make over the South in seven days may not be impressed by North Carolina's progress. Those who view the South's great problem more realistically will say that North Carolina is solving it more creditably than other southern states.

Displaced Persons Bill

THE senate judiciary committee has reported favorably on its version of the house Stratton bill to admit displaced persons.

The Stratton bill would admit 100,000 refugees annually for the next four years; the senate bill calls for admission in the next two years of 100,000 displaced persons possessed of "special trades, skills, professions and aptitudes as will best meet the economic needs of the United States and contribute to its cultural, religious, economic or industrial welfare."

Admission of refugees would in part fill immigration quotas unused during the war. With national employment now around an all-time high of 60,000,000, the United States could absorb a fair share of displaced persons without hardship, among them artisans whose work would be in demand. Such action would set an example for the rest of the free world.

It is estimated that independently owned single stores do about two-thirds of the volume of retail business in the United States.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

The Southern Revolt; Probably Just Talk.

POLITICIANS are more concerned with Henry Wallace's third party than they are over the revolt of the southern Democrats only because the southerners have grumbled for 16 years but have voted true to the faith. Both northern Democrat and Republicans discount the southerners on the general assumption that in the end they will be true blue and will stand by Harry Truman in whom they have lost faith and for whom they have no respect. They have, as a matter of fact, sold themselves into political bondage by unrestrained loyalty to a party that ignores them.

SOKOLSKY

Certainly, it is not merely a question of white supremacy. Carter Glass, Jack Garner, Harry Byrd of Virginia, Huey Long, Joseph Ely of Massachusetts and even the redoubtable Jim Farley have, on occasion, rebelled, but in the end, most of them return to the fold. That is precisely why the South, without which the Democratic party would cease to exist, has lost its influence in Washington. The big city bosses, the New Dealers, the Hillman laborites and the Communists have always figured that it did not matter what the southerners said, they would always vote for papa. They always have.

Not Healthful Situation

This is a dangerous situation for any part of the country to get into, for it nullifies representation. Senator Byrd, for instance, should, by intellect, personality and character, be the leader of the senate, but he has always abrogated leadership for party regularity even when his party stood for everything he opposed. On many occasions, I have discussed this with Jim Farley, who, knowing from the inside how abominable some of Roosevelt's acts were, nevertheless went along with the party, ostensibly voting for what he not only privately but publicly opposed. Now that he has written a book telling all, he is being courted because he has become independent. Such southern Democrats as Jesse Jones and Bernard Baruch invariably suffer from a similar loyalty, both compromising the inviolability of individual conscience for straight party adherence. (Jones once said that he had voted against William Jennings Bryan.)

These southerners would have been a powerful brake on the New Deal had they asserted themselves at the polls as they did in private or even public speech. For it is the polls that count. True, some of them revolted against the nomination of Al Smith on the publicly pronounced basis of acknowledged religious bigotry. True, they fought the court packing bill but they confirmed Roosevelt's spiteful and humiliating appointments. True, some of them have combined with Republicans in matters of taxation and labor legislation; but when it came to voting they voted for the third term and the fourth term—which most of them opposed in principle. Harry Truman believes that they will vote for him no matter what he does or says.

Would Help Country

Nothing—absolutely nothing—could be more beneficial to the United States than the breaking up of the solid South. The Civil war is over; it can well be forgotten politically. Most southern Democrats are in mind and experience closer to the northern Republicans than they are to the Communists, Socialists, social workers and professors who constitute the backbone of the New Deal. Certainly, Senator Byrd is closer to Senator Taft than he is to Senator Glen Taylor.

As a matter of fact, both parties could benefit by a shifting of party relationships. From that standpoint, Henry Wallace's People's party may even serve a useful purpose. It may attract to itself Republicans as well as Democrats who no longer really belong to either party. Senator Glen Taylor voted himself out of the Democratic party altogether correctly. He does not belong there and has, as a matter of fact, never been happy there. He will now be in a party more to his liking. There are Republicans who feel as he does and they should go along with him.

The southerners would find themselves stronger even as Democrats if they voted independently on the issues of the day and not on the basis of party loyalty. For loyalty should be to the Constitution of the United States and to one's private conscience, not to so ephemeral an institution as a party of shifting personalties and principles.

Maybe He Meant
The MIRTH Rate

After considerable research and analysis, a New York designer has come to the conclusion that changes in feminine hat styles directly affect the birth rate.

So that's what Lily Dache means when she advertises: "You'll be irresistable in this one."

Maybe I'm just old-fashioned, but I can't help feeling this places too much emphasis on millinery weddings.

Admittedly, men are more apt to judge a woman by what's on her head than in it. But I still think a gentleman ought to be able to admire a lady's chapeau without her thinking he wants to raise a family.

After all, people had children in the days when no one wore a hat regularly except the preacher, and he only to pass in church.

Still, this theory about bonnets and babies is an ingenious one. Try it on Junior if he grows skeptical of the stork.

A Roosevelt Anniversary

Presidential Career Started 15 Years Ago Today.

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, March 4—Fifteen years ago today tradition-smashing Franklin D. Roosevelt started his presidential career by smashing a tradition.

When Chief Justice Hughes read the presidential oath of office, Mr. Roosevelt did not follow with the usual phrase-by-phrase repetition of the oath. He waited until Mr. Hughes had finished and then repeated the entire 35-word pledge in one unbroken statement.

Few presidents-elect have learned the full text of the oath. Mr. Roosevelt was all set with it, the words rolling out in the resonant tones which marked his public utterances.

Then, in an effort to bolster the spirit of a nation with a bad case of the hard-time jitters, he launched into a confidence-studded inaugural speech.

"So, first of all," he said, "let me assert my firm belief that the only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

Pledging government action on "first things first," he said:

"I shall ask the congress for broad executive power as great as the power that would be given me if I were, in fact, invaded by a foreign foe."

Acts Speedily

Next day he closed the nation's banks until they could be reopened on a sounder footing. Then he called congress into special session for emergency action.

Eight days after his inauguration Mr Roosevelt began the series of fireside radio chats which delighted his friends, exasperated his enemies and impressed multitudes of voters.

"My friends" sonorously rolled out of loud speakers all over the country. His political showmanship was focusing attention on him as the leader, not of a party so much, as of a nation.

The first fireside radio talk was on the bank-closing crisis. He started off:

"My friends, I want to talk with the people of the United States about banking. I want to tell you what has been done in the last few days, and why it was done, and what the next steps are going to be."

Heard Often on Radio

In 10 months he made 20 radio talks, a record-setting performance for a chief executive.

During his famous "100 days," congress swiftly ground out legislation, tailored almost completely to his order. He bombarded congress with messages. Revolutionary economic measures sometimes swept through both houses in a single day.

To aid an estimated 12,000,000 unemployed, congress approved a $3,300,000,000 public works program. A fund of $500,000,000 was voted for states which matched federal money in furnishing food and shelter for the needy.

Other billions were voted to help families threatened with the loss of homes and farms by mortgage foreclosures. A crop control program, with bonuses for farmer participants, was aimed at curtailing production and boosting prices for farm products.

The president was authorized to manage the national currency with wide inflationary powers. He took the country off the gold standard.

CCC Established

Congress created the civilian conservation corps, restored 2-cent postage, passed a securities regulation bill to protect investors and modified the Volstead act to allow the sale of 3.2 per cent beer.

A law to strengthen banks provided guaranty of deposits up to $5,000. The NRA symbolized by the blue eagle set up fair competition codes for industry and minimum wages for workers, but these were later outlawed by the supreme court, as were parts of the farm program.

The contents of several measures were unknown to many congressmen. Some editorial observers said the country had never seen such a display of "executive audacity and usurpation."

At the height of the Roosevelt presidential "honeymoon," in the summer of 1933, the press reported that a New York family had named a new baby Franklin Delano Blue Eagle. A Chicago couple named their infant son Franklin Garner, in honor of both the president and vice president.

More than 150 members and guests attended the annual banquet of the LaRue Sportsmen's club held in the LaRue school building. Speakers were Lawrence Woodell, head of the state conservation council, and Colonel Henry Pfeiffer of Kenton, past president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen.

One hundred and fifty women from 19 churches in the city attended the annual World Day of Prayer for Missions held in the First Presbyterian church.

Miss Mary Haberman of East Church street left for Dayton, where she joined friends for a vacation trip to Miami, Fla.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, March 4, 1928.

Sunday motion pictures were inaugurated in Marion in the face of difficulties which included three arrests of Edward F. Sharpless, manager of the Grand theater. An arrest followed each of three shows given during the day and to assure his appearance he filed a bond of $500 after every arrest. A total of 2,700 spectators attended the three performances.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Eldred W. January of Beach.

Roosevelt Continuity Broken

By Walter Lippmann

THE character of the Truman administration has been determined by the peculiar circumstances in which it originated.

The Democratic party is in power because in 1944, at the climax of the war, President Roosevelt was felt to be indispensable as commander in chief. Mr. Truman is president because Henry Wallace was regarded as a liability in a campaign for a fourth term—as a candidate who would hold no voters that Roosevelt would not hold and would alienate many whom Roosevelt could otherwise attract.

The Democratic managers believed that Mr. Roosevelt could not be replaced. They did not feel called upon to decide whether their own candidate for vice president was qualified to replace him.

LIPPMANN

The calculations and maneuvers which brought Mr. Truman forward ahead not only of Wallace but of Secretary Byrnes and Justice Douglas, had nothing to do with the paramount and the unique issue of the campaign, which was that the war should be concluded by the men who were conducting it victoriously.

The untimely death of Roosevelt meant, therefore, that the Democratic party was quite unprepared to carry out the one and only promise on which it had been given a fourth term of power.

After one unhappy and uncomfortable attempt at the Potsdam conference in July, 1945, to do what Roosevelt had been reelected to do, Mr. Truman gave up the effort to be his replacement. He gave up the steering wheel and settled down to do the rest of his driving from the back seat.

Then the very thing happened which a majority of the people in 1944 had wanted not to happen. The continuity of the conduct of the unfinished war and its aftermath was broken.

Old Team Disbanded

In spite of Roosevelt's death, some continuity might have been maintained had Mr. Truman not allowed virtually the whole team of Roosevelt's principal military and political advisers to be disbanded. But from 1945 until 1947 the great affairs of the settlement were in charge of men who, with the exception of Admiral Leahy, had played no continuing part in, and had no first hand knowedge of, the high strategy of the war.

It was not until Marshall, Lovett, Douglas, McCloy, were recalled to Washington that the broken threads have begun in some measure, and with great difficulty, to be repaired.

The instinct of the people in 1944 was sound. All historical experience shows that the making of peace is a continuation of the conduct of war and that the problems of a peace settlement are unintelligible to men who do not have a complete understanding of the war that is to be settled.

Unfortunately, in England, the same rupture occurred. Men who had served usefully in the war, but had not conducted it, were suddenly and unexpectedly charged with the task of settling it. So the Anglo-American peacemakers have had to learn by making their own mistakes—an expensive process in view of the fact that they were dealing with the Russians.

Uncertain of Mandate

Unable to carry out the mandate which had been given to Roosevelt alone, Mr. Truman was not sure what his mandate was. If he could not replace Roosevelt, the commander in chief, ought he to replace him as leader of the New Deal?

It was a difficult question which has troubled Mr. Truman since he entered the White House. On the one hand it was evident that in 1944 Roosevelt was not elected as a New Dealer. That had been recognized by removing Henry Wallace, and it was clear, as the 1946 elections showed, that there was an anti-New Deal reaction in the country.

On the other hand, what was to be the role of Roosevelt's successor and political heir if he was neither a New Dealer nor a commander in chief?

Mr. Truman's solution of this conundrum has been to get rid of the New Dealers, and to be what he in fact really is—no New Dealer at all—but a politician who appreciates the voting strength of the Roosevelt combination.

He has tried to do what he thought he had to do, and to promise what it seemed expedient to promise, in order to hold together the various groups and interests which Roosevelt had managed to amalgamate. His task has been to tie together a Truman administration, which has no popular mandate of its own, out of the Roosevelt components.

It has not been easy. If it is possible to achieve the synthesis it will not be because of the magnetic attraction of the Truman administration but only because the Republicans make it impossible for the many independent and uncommitted voters, who want a change, to change to them.

Tops Accident List

SACRAMENTO — California broke its own record and led all states in 1947 with 18 killed and 32 wounded in hunting accidents.

This is according to the Division of Fish and Game. The division says the accident causes parallel a list of "don'ts" for safety around a gun.

Nimrods got shot by others who mistook them for deer, a turkey, and in one case, a rabbit. Hunters killed or wounded themselves while carrying a loaded gun on a streetcar, pulling a gun from an auto, resting a gun butt on the shoe while lighting a cigarette, crawling through a fence, falling, and—yes—looking down the muzzle.

Director Emil Ott, Jr., says hunting casualties for 1948 may be even higher unless hunters are more careful.

He says education is the answer. He notes only one veteran of World War II was on the 1947 list.

Josef Speaks

It's time for friendship and a pact
Of mutual defense,
So just relax now and await
My lily-bearing gents!

I wish to promise you my aid
And succor "just in case"...
So bid your folks a fond farewell
And toward me graveyard face!

In trying days and troublesome
From buddies we must be...
So let our two hearts beat as one...
Before mine beats as three!

We must become me warmest pals
And every danger spike
So come with me and be my love...
What flowers do you like?

There's nothing like true friendship deep,
This surely you'll allow,
So grasp me firmly by the hand...
And name your poison now!

Oh, no one knows where danger lies
Or whence may spring a war;
So climb into the bed with me...
You'll be in doubt no more!

This is a most uncertain world—
You're warned, taut and tense;
Just say you'll be a friend of mine.
You'll know no more suspense!

'Tis mutual accord we need
So you may know no blow;
Here's luck, and if you get it, kid,
Just write and let me know!

The Big Mistake

("If I had been president it would not have happened."—Henry Wallace)

"What else could those poor Czechs expect?
"How can they squawk today?
The simple explanation is
I wasn't in the play!"

"Why wonder over this foul deed?
'Twas quite bound to come true;
I wasn't in the White House where
I would have rescued you!

"Prepare for further trouble, for
No peace can reappear
Until you say "Quick, Hennery—
You take it up from here!"

The Search Continues

By TRUMAN TWILL

With all due respect to the pen and pencil industry, here is one steady customer who isn't satisfied with the product.

There still isn't any such thing as a really dependable writing instrument, which is nothing to boast about in a civilization that has learned how to split atoms.

And now, before the first indignant "What do you mean, you cur" comes sputtering out somewhere, this is what a steady customer who isn't satisfied means by saying there's no such thing as a really dependable writing instrument.

So-called soft pencils, the only ones that make a satisfactorily black mark, have a nasty habit of breaking under pressure; they are too tender.

So-called hard pencils, which do not break under pressure, are of no use whatever, except for carving on stone—and of interest, therefore only to people who carve on stone.

So-called medium pencils combine the bad qualities of the extremes they are in the middle of—too hard to be satisfactory for writing, too brittle to be satisfactory for lasting.

Besides these deficiencies of ordinary pencils there is a still longer list of things wrong with colored pencils, which are totally unsatisfactory as writing implements and only 50 per cent efficient as playthings, which is what they mostly are.

Mechanical pencils can be shrugged off as of no account whatever, except as novelties. They are all right for people who use pencils to make marks with occasionally but a dead loss to people who must use pencils all day and need something dependable that will not get out of whack or distract them with mechanical idiosyncrasies.

It looked for a time as if the ball-point pen might be an answer, but its performance still lags behind its promise. Here again the distinction is between an instrument that works right occasionally and an instrument that turns out when put to the test of day-in-and-day-out use. The ball-point pen as a dependable writing instrument is just another gadget, not much better or worse than the ordinary fountain pen, which also is an instrument subject to moods and temperament and requiring attention.

In fact, from the viewpoint of a person using a writing implement to make a living, the only satisfactory one ever offered for sale was a thing that looked something like a mechanical pencil but was really a solid hunk of graphite painted on the outside and with a clip attached. Every bit of it was good for making a mark with, though keeping a point on it was a problem. It was too good to be true, until it fell on the floor one day and broke into a dozen pieces—and the search for a really dependable writing instrument was on again.

WASHINGTON

...only for people who ...IS must:

...an estimate on their ...e tax.

...make the first payment

...ed form 1040ES to file ...estimated income tax

...eople, depending upon ...also will need either ...the instruction sheet

which goes with it, so they can check the tax-table or the tax-rate on the back of them.

Suppose your 1948 income will be under $5,000. You don't have to work out the estimated tax step - by - step. You'll find the tax on your income in the table on the back of form 1040.

If you're in the $5,000 or over class, you work out your 1948 estimated tax—as you did in making our 1947 return—and find your tax rate in the table on the back of the instruction sheet.

The under $5,000 people get an allowance of about 10 per cent for deductions for things like charity and medical care. They don't have to claim it. It's already allowed for in the tax table on the back of form 1040.

So they don't have to worry about deductions, unless they want to claim more than 10 per cent. If they do, they can't use the 1040 tax table. They'll have to work out their tax, claiming the deductions they want.

The $5,000 or over people automatically can claim a deduction of $500 when they figure their estimated tax.

IF THEY WANT to claim more than $500, they can. But—like any of the under-$5,000 people who want to claim more than their 10 per cent—they'll have to prove them when they file their final return in 1949.

Here's a step-by-step example of how to fill out your estimated 1948 income tax return.

You're married, with two children. Your weekly salary is $180. For 52 weeks, or one year, that's $9,360. Subtract your standard $500 deduction. That leaves $8,-880.

From that 8,860 subtract your $2,000 in exemptions—$500 each for yourself, wife and two children. That leaves $6,860. That's the only part of your 1948 income that's taxable.

Now turn to the instruction sheet, mentioned above. Where it shows taxable income between $6,000 and $8,000, you'll see the tax on the first $6,000 is $1,360, plus 30 per cent of what's over $6,000. In your case it's 30 per cent of the $860 over your $6,000, or $258.

Add the $258 to the $1,360, for a total tax of $1,618. But that's not the tax you have to pay. There's another step. You deduct 5 per cent from the $1,618 tax, leaving you a tax of $1,537.10. That's your estimated tax for 1948. It's the full tax you figure you'll owe.

BUT YOU DON'T have to pay all that now, or at the end of 1948 because most of it will be taken out of your salary by your boss before the end of 1948.

How much will he take out? He's withholding $26 a week from your $180 weekly salary. That $26 a week, multiplied by 52 weeks, give you a total of $1,352 to be withheld from your salary in 1948.

Now for the first time turn to your form 1040ES. On line 1, where it says "estimated income tax for 1948, you write your total estimated tax for 1948. That tax, as you worked it out, is $1,537.10.

Beneath that, on line 2, write that $1,352 in tax the boss will withhold from your salary in 1948. Subtract it from the $1,-537.10, on line 1 and write the answer $185.10 on line 3.

That $185.10—the difference between the $1,537.10 total tax and the $1,352 to be withheld from you—is the tax you'll have to start paying by March 15.

You can pay it in full March 15 or in quarterly installments of $46.27—most people pay quarterly—on March 15, June 15, Sept. 15 and Jan. 15, 1949.

If you're going to pay in quarterly installments, write that $46.-27 on line 7. Filling out the rest of form 1040ES is simple.

(Lines 4 and 5 will apply to some people and should be filled out if they do.)

TEAR OFF THE BOTTOM part of 1040ES, filled out, and turn it into the internal revenue collector with the tax you owe, in installments or in full.

The government allows you to make an error of 20 per cent in your estimate.

If you discover later that you've made a larger error, you can correct it on those quarterly payment dates by filing a revised estimate. To repeat, those other dates are June 15, Sept. 15 and Jan. 15, 1949.

But suppose congress reduces 1948 taxes this year and you find you have overestimated your tax for the year.

You can correct that, too, by filing a revised estimate—downward—when you make your next quarterly payment after the tax is cut, if it is.

Wage Scale an Issue In CIO Talks with G-E

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 4—Smallness of differentials between pay of high-skilled and lower-skilled workers has developed as an issue in contract negotiations of the General Electric Co. and the CIO United Electrical Workers.

The company said yesterday at the end of the second day of negotiations the union wants a "change" in the present differences.

G-E said the narrowness developed from the union's past policy of demanding flat hourly increases instead of percentage increases. The union had no immediate comment.

The company is opposing a union demand for a "substantial" pay increase for its 125,000 G-E members. The talks continue today.

A three-day meeting here between representatives of the union and the Westinghouse Electric Corp. ended last night. The discussions are scheduled to be resumed March 14 in Pittsburgh.

A joint statement said the Westinghouse discussions here had dealt only with "non-economic matters."

ELECTRIC SHOW HERE 2 DAYS

"House of Magic" Sponsored by Foremen's Club of Power Shovel Company.

The auditorium of Central Junior High school is expected to be filled to capacity for the four showings of the General Electric Company's "House of Magic" Friday and Saturday.

The hour-and-a-half show, which is being sponsored locally by the Foremen's club of Marion Power Shovel company, will be presented before high school and junior high school students Friday. Three performances are scheduled—10:30 a. m. for Harding High school, 1:15 p. m. for Central Junior High and 2:45 p. m. for Vernon Junior High.

The show will close Saturday night with a single performance at 7:30, open only to members of the Shovel Co. foremen's club and their guests.

Despite its name, the General Electric "House of Magic" resorts to no tricks. It merely presents striking scientific phenomena discovered in General Electric's Research Laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y.

The "House of Magic" is the name originally given to this laboratory by the late Floyd Gibbons, radio commentator, author and foreign correspondent. In addition to the many wonders he observed, the postwar version of the science show includes several new scientific findings of interest to the layman.

One of the show's highlights is the explosion of paper. This is accomplished by attaching a paper disc to the shaft of a motor and turning it faster and faster until it "explodes" or flies apart. At the instant of the explosion a light flashes, leaving the shadow of the breaking disc on a flourescent screen.

Another impressive feature is that of sending sound across the stage on a light beam. A record is played, and the music is sent across the stage to a loud speaker on a narrow beam of light. The lecturer is able to interrupt the music program merely by breaking the beam of light with his hand.

These and many other scientific marvels will be presented by William Gluesing, who is in charge of the "House of Magic."

DIXIE DEMOCRATS GET NORTHERN HELP

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Rebelling Dixie Democrats today received a setback in their drive to keep President Truman's name off southern ballots. But from the north came fresh support for a change in party standard bearers.

Virginia legislators yesterday threw out a bill to bar Mr. Truman's name from the ballot. But they kept another weapon to use against him.

At the same time, three New England Democrats — including Boston's long time Mayor James M. Curley—urged Gen. Douglas MacArthur as their party's presidential candidate.

Curley, who last Thanksgiving was granted a presidential pardon after serving five months of a 6 to 18 months mail fraud sentence, declared the nation is demanding that Mr. Truman stay out of the race.

He joined former Governors Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts and Francis P. Murphy of New Hampshire in proposing the supreme allied commander of Japan as the Democratic nominee.

Ely supported the late Alfred E. Smith in his break with President Franklin D. Roosevelt and backed James A. Farley against Roosevelt at the 1940 Democratic convention.

Murphy was a Republican governor but later was Democratic national committeeman from New Hampshire.

Bids Too High On OSU Medical Center

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 4—Base bids for an $8,000,000 medical center unit at Ohio State university today added up to $9,000,000.

State Public Works Director George B. Sowers said despite the $1,000,000 over the estimate, prospects for awarding the contract are not hopeless.

Sowers said state architects and university trustees will study bids to determine how the project can be reduced to the lowest possible figure. Means also will be discussed how additional funds can be obtained, Sowers added.

DEMOCRACY ON WAY IN TURKEY

Bill of Rights in Making and Americans Get Much of Credit.

By The United Press

ISTANBUL—In Turkey, the police still can grab you, slap you in jail and hold you as long as they like without telling you why, filing charges or notifying your family.

But the Turkish parliament is about to pass a law stopping those tactics. That is democracy coming to Turkey.

Leaving the self-confessed dictatorship of Ataturk, the Turks are being fed democracy so fast and in such large chunks they are having trouble swallowing. But they are trying, and they like it. They are clamoring for more.

America's fighting war-time GI's probably never dreamed they were having a hand in the matter, but most political observers here agree that they did. When the American Army helped knock Hitler's cloud castles apart in Europe, it helped bring the Bill of Rights to 19,000,000 Turks.

Backed Wrong Horse

It happened this way: Everyone knows that Turkey played footie with the Germans during the war. When the Nazis swastika was riding high it looked as if Turkey would aim her guns at the western allies. Germany had the material and know-how Turkey needed.

But when the high-flying Nazi eagle started getting his tail feathers tangled in radar-directed ack-ack, the Turks decided they had backed the wrong team. They aimed their guns the wrong way.

There never was any question of the Turks going to bed with the Russians. The Turks had fought too many wars kicking ambitious Russian territory-grabbers off their land. It used to be the Czars and now it was the commissars.

"But they still are Russians and we don't like them," say most Turks.

Swing Toward U. S.

That left the western allies, and America was top-dog in this camp. Turkish political leaders saw what was happening in other nations in the Russian sphere and decided the only way to keep the small Turkish nation independent and free was to make friends with the United States.

America was a land which took her democracy seriously. Turkey, with a one-party system, was practically a dictatorship. Some of her laws still were a hangover from the days of the sultans. President Ismet Inonu decided that had to be changed.

He began in June, 1945, by suddenly announcing that from then on, all political parties, provided they had no foreign connections like the Communists, were legal. It caught the Turks like a thunderbolt, but in six months they had organized the opposition Democratic party.

Once the new party was born, it grew like a rain-drenched Texas thistle. Tiny, unknown weekly newspapers which backed the new party grew almost overnight into powerful dailies. Big, powerful papers backing the old, one-party system began to fade out. The Democrats prepared for the next general elections scheduled for early in 1947 and were sensationally successful.

MRS. CHRISTINE JOHNSTON

GOV. JAMES E. FOLSOM

SUES ALABAMA GOVERNOR. Mrs. Christine Johnston, 30, asked a court to declare Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama her legal husband and the father of her 22-month-old boy, James Douglas, in a suit filed in Cullman, Ala. A similar suit was filed on the child's behalf. Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama, in the above photo, smiles as he talks to reporters upon arrival in Washington. The New York Daily News said in copyrighted story from Cullman that auburn-haired Mrs. Johnston has charged Folsom with "disavowing" her and her son on the advice of his political advisors. The News said the attractive divorcee claimed in her paternity complaint against the governor that they had lived together as man and wife in Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky and Florida. Gov. Folsom blames politics for filing of the suits naming him as the father of the divorcee's baby son. (Associated Press Wirephotos)

Folsom Hearing Date Remains Unsettled

By The Associated Press

CULLMAN, Ala., March 4—A circuit court official said today there was no indication as to when the court will hear a petition to have Gov. James E. Folsom declared the father of a 22-month-old boy.

The petition was filed Tuesday by Christine Putman Johnston, daughter of a Hanceville, Ala., farmer. The attractive 30-year-old divorcee also asked the court to declare the governor her lawful husband.

Mrs. Johnston, a former Birmingham hotel employe, contended in her petition that she and Folsom "intermarried, by virtue of an acknowledged relationship effective as a common law marriage within the state of Alabama."

She alleged that they lived together as man and wife in Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky and Florida. The petition stated that the child, James Douglas, was born in Nashville, Tenn., April 17, 1946.

from outsider suppliers. That portion of the main plant is now changed over for the fabrication and assembly of large stripping shovels and similar equipment. The reconversion of this part of the plant will add 82,000 square feet of assembly space and will be completed during the second quarter. Then it will be possible to step up production of the larger machines which are in such increased demand at this time.

The rehabilitation program started early in 1946, was continued throughout 1947. New tools, machinery and equipment were installed and better transportation facilities were provided in order to speed up the flow of materials through the plant and maintain the high quality of workmanship necessary in the manufacture of Marion Power Shovel Co. products.

OHIO FARM BUREAU MEN SOLD ON ERP

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—A group of Ohio Farm Bureau members was sold completely today on the Marshall plan after an informal chat with the secretary of state. (The group included F. O. Van Sickle of Mt. Gilead, who represented the Eighth Congressional District.)

Most of the 23 farmers said they favored a European aid program generally before coming to Washington.

But yesterday's 40-minute quiz session with the secretary of state clinched it. Virgil Utz of near Rossburg, O., who had been undecided, put it this way:

"Marshall and the others we have talked to have given me a confidence in the European aid program, something I didn't have before. I think we can throw the whole thing in his lap and it will be taken care of."

The delegation, representing 55,000 farm families, also talked with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt about the United Nations.

She was quoted as saying it is worth "almost anything not to have another war. . . . Taxes I don't care about. If another war doesn't wipe you out completely it will leave you so much worse off that problems we have now will seem as nothing."

The group also met Senator Robert A Taft at a luncheon with Senator John W. Bricker and discussed farm matters with Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

MUSIAL ENDS HOLDOUT

By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4—Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' slugging first baseman, ended his holdout today and signed a contract. The signing came after a 15-minute conference with Robert E. Musial wanted the higher amount.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress It works this way.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is 888 Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair Don't wait! Trey Wins Jury Verdict In Damage Action

DELAWARE, March 4—A common pleas jury Wednesday returned a verdict in favor of Herman Trey of near Marion, defendant in a $53,750 suit for damages brought by Lloyd W. Glaze of Delaware.

The suit arose out of an altercation two years ago in which Trey was alleged to have broken Glaze's jaws in six places. He testified Glaze attempted to cut his throat. Trey was found guilty of assault and battery, fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Fred Wickham, at the time of the incident.

The common pleas jury yesterday decided Glaze was not entitled to damages from Trey, nine members signing in favor of the defendant.

Trey operates the Scioto Supper club on route 98 north of Waldo.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES PRESSED BY COUNCIL

Civic Groups Invited To Join in Program Here.

Letters are being mailed this week inviting interested Marion civic groups to participate in a coordinating council for youth recreational activities, T. A. Allen, chairman of the steering committee for forming the council, announced today.

The letters will serve a two-fold purpose, Mr. Allen said. They will advise the civic groups of what has been accomplished to date in the program to form the council and will include a brief questionnaire asking the groups for appropriate suggestions for young people's activities in Marion.

The coordinating council will be formed from delegates sent by these civic groups. The groups are asked to send their delegates not merely as representatives of the groups but empowered to vote for the groups on activities, and with authority to act for their organizations, without returning to the organization for authorization to act.

Allen estimated four to six weeks will be required for interested civic organizations to meet and pick their delegates before the steering committee can call the first organizational meeting of the coordinating council.

"Russian youth have been trained that they are going to change the way of living of the world. Even now, through the Communist party, they are soliciting the youth of America to join them. "We need Divine help and guidance to take us through the uncertain times ahead. We must seek a system for world peace which may be achieved without threatening the American way of life. In this fight for world peace our youth of today must be men of action. It is their duty to build a greater America to lead the world through the pathways of peace by helping other nations of the world to fight Communism by leading the youth of the world down the pathways of peace and prosperity."

Introduced by Solinger

Mr. Bangham was introduced by toastmaster Robert Solinger. The main speaker was preceded by short addresses by DeMolay "Dad" Robert T. Mason, Master Councilor F. Glen Massie, and his father, Forest G Massie. Other guests were Juvenile Judge Edward Ruzzo and Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of schools.

A minstrel show was presented by the DeMolay chorus, under the direction of William D. Cowles. Donald E. Kelly was interlocutor and Glen Massey, Jack Robbins, Frank Hall, and Ted Beresford were the end men. Featured soloists were Orland Beveridge, accordionist; John Cheney, whistler, and Richard Latimore, baritone. Charles Pensinger was accompanist. The overture for the minstrel was played on two pianos by John Cheney and Charles Pensinger.

The presentation of awards to ping pong and euchre champions was made during the program.

A hundred DeMolays and their guests attended the dinner which was served by the Marion DeMolay Mother's circle.

PERMIT FOR PRISON WEDDING REFUSED

DANIEL BUDZYNSKI

JEANNE LUCAS

Daniel Budzynski, 19, was free of a sentence of death in Nashville, Tenn. Gov. Jim McCord commuted his sentence to 99 years after his childhood sweetheart Jeanne Clair Lucas pleaded for clemency or the right to wed him in the death house. Both are of Pittsburgh.

Miss Lucas, Pittsburgh Sunday school teacher, arrived by plane at Nashville, Tenn., where she applied for a license to wed Budzynski. He and Richard Reilly were convicted of murdering Samuel Colsky, a Memphis merchant and pawn broker, on Nov. 21, 1947. Warden John Harwood told Miss Lucas' attorney that he must have the approval of Gov. McCord for the marriage.

Following commutation of Budzynski's sentence Miss Lucas again sought to get permission to marry the prisoner but her plea was rejected by the governor. She then declared she will never cease in her efforts to have the wedding ceremony performed. (Associated Press Photos)

Movie Stars, on Personal Appearance Tours, Hardly Allowed Time To Eat

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD, March 4—Picture business is so bad these days that movie studios have pulled out that old standby to jack up the boxoffice: personal appearance tours. And the stars who get stuck with 'em have found out meeting their public is no pushover.

It's a new wrinkle to them. P. A.'s haven't been part of most filmsters' jobs since long before the war. Came the boom, and theaters didn't need to show off stars on the stage between the cartoon and the film they starred in. People went to the movies anyway.

Only time a star showed up in a strange city was for a one-night premiere or benefit. Now, though, the studios are sending the theaters movie stars along with their films.

Far from Easy

And the stars are dragging with aching feet, grins frozen on their pusses, and eye-popping tales about what happens when a movie star ventures from safe, lazy movietown to the cold, critical world.

Esther Williams is still recovering from her second whirl around the country. Esther visited theaters to help sell her latest, "This Time for Keeps." She traveled on no gravy train, either, she says.

First of all, the long-legged water queen had to convince the theaters she could put on a show.

"Esther Williams!" snapped one theater man. "I don't have a swimming pool on my stage. What else can she do?"

Miss W. surprised everybody by putting on a 25-minute skit that the audience took part in, too. In about 25 cities, five shows a day on week-days, six on Sundays.

No Time To Eat

"I had two hours between shows," said Esther. "I took care of interviews and benefits and tried to find a second to eat. That was a major operation.

"In every restaurant people crowded around for autographs. I didn't mind giving them, but, gosh, most times I never got any food."

Her phone never stopped clanging, either. Half the calls were from people who purred they knew her when, but really didn't. In Oklahoma City an old lady sweetly reminded Esther she used to put diapers on the star in Fort Worth, Tex.

"I told her I'd never been in Fort Worth in my life. Was she mad! She snapped, 'Well, if you want to treat your old friends that way,' and hung up.

"In Chicago a man insisted he was my Uncle Bill from Detroit. I told him I'd never been in Detroit. He got mad, too.

"I didn't want people to be angry. So after that I told all my phoney 'relatives' it was nice to hear from them. And smile—my gosh. I thought my face would crack. I never could let down—always on display."

REALTY BOARD HEARS COLUMBUS SPEAKER

Malcolm Prine of Columbus, executive vice president of the National Real Estate Board and member of the 32 member policy committee of realtors which meets monthly in Washington, D. C., was guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Marion Real Estate Board last night.

The meeting was held at the Hotel Harding with 32 attending including associate board members. Special guests in addition to Mr. Prine were LeRoy Parsons, of Columbus, executive secretary of the state real estate board, and Miss Hanson, Columbus real estate board secretary.

Mr. Prine's talk centered on the rent control and housing questions. Mr. Parsons and Miss Hanson also spoke briefly. Zeb Stout, president of the Marion board presided.

Passes State Nurse's Test with High Grade

Mrs. Edith Noggle Livingston, formerly of Marion, passed a recent state board examination for qualification as a registered nurse with a grade of 93.6, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Noggle of 361 Mound street, have learned. She was graduated from White Cross hospital school of nursing in Columbus last June and is now a member of the nursing staff here. She makes her home in Columbus.

How to Put Up with Women's Styles

When Will Dudley's missus finally gave in to the new-style longer skirts, Will was mighty critical at first. Allowed as how women were a slave to fashion ... ought to dress to please their husbands and not style designers.

Sue finally reminded Will of his habit of sitting by the radio Saturday afternoons in shirt sleeves and old slippers, listening to the sportcasts with a mellow glass of beer. Suggested that maybe Will was a slave to comfort.

And Will admitted she was right. Perhaps the way somebody dresses isn't always to our taste—just as Will's glass of beer may be another person's cider.

But from where I sit, those little differences aren't important—unless we go out of our way to make them so, by being hypercritical. As Will says now: "Well, anyway, those long skirts hide a multitude of shins" ... and lets it go at that!

A Disease Imitating Another

When one disease maqueraces as another, the doctor may have trouble di covering and unmasking the real culprit

One of the best (or worst) of all mimics known to medicine is gallbladder disease. It may be present without producing any symptoms at all and then, on the other hand, it may imitate symptoms caused by many other abnormal conditions of the chest or abdomen It is estimated that at least one-fifth of all patients who complain of indigestion are suffering from some form of gallbladder disturbance

Acute gallbladder disease is easy to diagnose when there is pain in the right upper part of the abdomen, with tenderness in the same region In some cases, however, the indications are not so plain In these instances the pain may be in the pit of the stomach, the chest, or the back, and other symptoms may be present which indicate that there is possibly some disorder of the heart or the stomach or the bowels

These are the cases demanding a thorough study, including X-rays of the stomach, bowel and gallbladder, as well as an electrocardiogram or electrical tracing of the heartbeat With these methods, the doctor usually can arrive at the proper diagnosis promptly

Operation for acute gallbladder infection, as a rule, should be delayed until the symptoms have subsided, except, of course, when there are signs that perhaps the gallbladder may rupture or break open.

In the treatment of acute gallbladder infection, various drugs may be administered by the physician to relieve pain, and fluids may be given by injection under the skin or into a vein The diet is kept low in fats and rich in vitamin B, especially the B-complex, vitamin C, and vitamin K

In chronic gallbladder disease, there is usually some pain in the upper part of the abdomen, with belching, excessive gas formation and, sometimes, vomiting

The eating of fatty foods may cause indigestion or may actually produce pain, because the fats stimulate the contractions of the gallbladder.

Chronic gallbladder disease, as a rule, is treated medically, that is, operations are not carried out.

In patients with good appetite a diet high in fats is used. It is employed because it will tend to make the gallbladder empty itself, and the giving of bile salts and bile acids also may stimulate the flow of bile

Pains are relieved by such drugs as phenobarbital and atropine, which the doctor prescribes

When stones are present in the gallbladder, an operation must be performed to get rid of them, because contractions of the gallbladder in the presence of stones may cause it to rupture. Prior to the time of the operation, the patient should a old overeating and should particularly avoid fats and fried foods

Questions and Answers

J J - Will you please tell me something about sciatica, its cause and treatment?

PAVE ALL STREETS WITH CONCRETE!

because—

1. Every street needs a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
2. At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
3. Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps . . . and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
4. You want a pavement that drains quickly . . . that is easily cleaned and stays clean . . . no depressions to catch dirt.
5. You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete . . . and only concrete . . . completely meets all of these specifications

All three cities, as well as Upper Sandusky, rely on the Sandusky river for water supply.

The three creek proposals in Pickaway and Ross counties have flood control as their main purposes, but must meet other requirements before authorization, Chambers said.

He pointed out that their construction would probably retard flood stage so that, with a "reasonable amount" of levy work, summer flooding of the ultra-rich Scioto valley could be prevented.

The Tiffin proposal on the Sandusky river would be both for water supply and flood control. Chambers said that reduction of flood crests at Tiffin and Fremont would result in the same agricultural benefits hoped for along the Scioto.

To Explain Possibilities

All projects, Chambers emphasized would have their recreational possibilities fully explored.

The Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district comprises the entire drainage area of the two rivers—roughly a 50-mile-wide belt extending from Fremont through Columbus to Portsmouth.

Although originally established in 1934, only preliminary studies of dam sites on the Scioto near LaRue and on the Sandusky near Marseilles were made at that time.

It was determined by Army engineers that the projects were not economically justified, and the district then lay dormant until last year.

Then an entire new study was undertaken financed by a .3-mill levy on property in the district, collected only this year.

It was again decided that dam sites on the Scioto near LaRue and on the Sandusky near Marseilles were not the best sites for initial construction. Accordingly they were not included among the nine dams proposed for construction in the near future.

The district includes all of Marion, Delaware, Union, Madison, Franklin, Pickaway, Ross and Fayette counties and parts of Sandusky, Seneca, Wyandot, Crawford, Morrow, Pike, Vinton, Highland and Scioto counties.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—Dance bands are big business.

Guy Lombardo in 20 years has raised in and his baton between them and many million dollars for himself and his Royal Canadians

He does it by playing to a very simple formula

"I play music people in love like to hum while they're dancing"

Lombardo likes to refer to his band output as "the sweetest music this side of heaven" Rival musicians often call him "The King of Corn"

But each year his band pulls in from $750,000 to $1,000,000 and Variety magazine estimates it has grossed over the years a fortune for its leader.

Lombardo's success is based on playing popular favorites chiefly by sticking to the pattern and by avoiding one error that has killed off many jazz bands

"Many orchestra leaders have gone out of business merely because they became financially interested in too many songs," he said "That ruins them"

Music publishers often offer a prominent band leader a third interest in a new song if he'll play it If he takes these offers and begins plugging too many flops—he disappears.

"THIS WHOLE BUSINESS simmers down to your material," Lombardo said "You can't force bad songs on people It isn't that they resent them. They just don't hear them or remember them. And if the band doesn't play tunes they remember and like—well, they just don't remember the band

"The tune itself is about 60 per cent of the whole effect—the band's interpretation only 40 per cent."

"I haven't seen one iota of change in public taste since I first played the violin. The popularity of revivals proves that. Many bandleaders play material of interest only to other musicians We don't feel that most American listeners are musicians enough to care for intricate orchestrations"

Lombardo has introduced some 275 popular tunes in his career. Each year he introduces 20 to 30 more of the 1,000 offered him by professional songpluggers.

"I ALSO GET about 10,000 each year from amateurs," he said "Most of them make the mistake of trying to put their own disappointed love life into their lyrics."

But Lombardo, who doesn't compose music himself, has sympathy for amateur creators. He has just written a script on outboard speedboat racing

"I'm going to try to sell it to the movies" he said hopefully.

What makes a popular song?

"It's easier to tell what the public won't like" Lombardo replied "They don't like depressing I-told-you-so lyrics without what we call 'the ray of hope' in them.

"A song can be sad but it's got to have that 'We're-going-to-get-together-again' feeling in it. And involved melodies rarely get popular College kids write that stuff."

I asked him if he ever used any of the multitude of songs sent him by amateur writers

"One," he said, "but after that the fellows who wrote it turned out a hundred more that never clicked"

Awards were based on originality, attractiveness, interest attracting and educational values.

Mt. Gilead F.F.A. received $5 as a premium and Iberia F.F.A. was awarded $5 in the contest. The 10 best exhibits in the state received awards ranging from $10 to $1.

James Rinehart, Mt. Gilead F.F.A. president, was chairman of the committee that worked out the plans and set up the Mt. Gilead exhibit. Other committee members were Raymond Dunn and Frank Phillips.

Grover Nelson, Ivan Sines, Eugene Morton and James Jackson developed and put into operation the Iberia exhibit.

R. S. Beard is the vocational agriculture instructor for both schools.

Both F.F.A. chapters received first premiums in their classes at the Ohio state fair. The exhibits were also used as a part of a safety exhibit at the Morrow county fair sponsored by the Morrow county vocational agriculture departments and the Morrow County Safety committee. The Mt. Gilead booth was also set up and operated at a meeting of the Mt. Gilead Grange.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

KATIE came into the kitchen as blithely as if she—and I—had not just been run through the wringer of a major domestic difficulty. Her reddened eyes and her slightly swollen face were the only indications of the storm of jealous rage over our neighbor, Mrs. Ticer, which had engulfed her. Her voice and her smile were as buoyant, as carefree, as ever.

"Didn't I tell you I coom down in five minutes, Missis Graham?" she asked with a triumphant note in her voice.

"You surely did," I told her, giving her an answering smile. "Now, when shall I tell everybody to listen for your dinner gong?"

"Twenty meenits," she replied without hesitation. "Me, I put my biscuits for gravy in right now. Und vile dey bake, I feex efery-ting oop. Den when dey coom out, I put dem in gravy, und pop next batch in for eating mit butter, und I keep popping dem in, so dere vill be some hot always. Eef dot Gus und doe Joe coom mit you, dey eat dozen apiece mitout winking."

"They are both here," I told her laughing, and then Katie turned to Mrs. Ticer.

"Meesis Ticer," she said, as if they had been bosom friends for years, "I vonder eef you would go und look ofer table in dining room, und see eef eet all right for company. I try to feex eet oop nice mit flowers und all, but I vos in sooch hurry. I afraid maybe I missed a spoon or fork or sometings like dot. Vill you please do me a favor und straighten eet oudt?"

Mrs. Ticer and I both knew that this was equivalent to having the guardian of the Crown Jewels of England ask an outsider for advice as to their arrangement. I did not dare look at her as she answered Katie, and was sure that she was equally careful to avert her gaze from mine.

"Of course, Katie," she said. "If you're nervous, I'll look the table over, but I'm sure there won't be any single thing a quarter inch out of place."

"You never know," Katie said sententiously, and with the feeling that I should burst into laughter if I remained much longer in Katie's vicinity, I spoke quickly to Mrs. Ticer.

"Did Jim come through here?" I asked. "I want to see him a minute."

"Yes," Mrs. Ticer said. "He went through without stopping," she said. "But he asked where Mr. 'K.' was, and I told him in your father's suite."

"I'll go over there then," I said. "If I see Jim, I'll tell him to have all the guards ready for their table, and I'll have our guests ready for ours. You might tell Mr. Ticer and Jerry that, also, girls if I don't happen to see Jim."

Mrs. Ticer's lips twitched slightly at the appellation "girls," but Katie evidently saw nothing incongruous in it.

"We'll tell dem," she said as she closed the oven gently on her first batch of biscuits.

"I shan't be back until dinner is served," I told them, "but I know that with you two on the job, everything will be fine."

I watched Katie's face narrowly as I spoke, for a speech like that was like putting tinder to paper, but she grinned widely at me, with no outward evidence of rancor.

"Sure ting!" she said. "We feex," and on that note of assurance I departed, feeling much as if I had witnessed a miracle.

But when I met Jim, on his way back from seeing that Mr. "K." and fugitive King Georges were comfortably installed in my father's wing, I was shocked out of my complacency. The face of our faithful farm caretaker was lined with suffering; his eyes were tortured, and beads of perspiration bedewed his forehead.

"Mis' Graham," he said awkwardly, "I'm glad I met you. I wanted to see you by yourself. I want to talk to you about Katie and me."

...e as to whether any-thing has been accomplished along the line of church unity in the recent past, he listed, outside of this country, the union of the churches of Canada into the United Church of Canada, union of the churches in South India including Anglicans, Methodist and South India United church which was composed of an earlier union of Presbyterian, Reformed and Congregationalists, numbering 1,100,000 members, and the United Church of China and of the Philippines. In America, he pointed out, there is the project to merge as many as possible of the eight principal interchurch agencies of Protestantism into the National Council of Churches of Christ in America," something less than and something different from organic union, nevertheless something highly to be desired—an effective organ of interchurch cooperation."

Listing another proposal which looks in the direction of church unity is that which was made by the Congregational Christian churches in 1946, he explained that "The Grinnell General council of this body proposed that all churches which were ready to accept the ministries and sacraments of other churches as equally valid with their own, should appoint representatives to confer with a view to exploring the possibilities of church union," and that many denominations gave sanction to this plan. An attempt in recent months to break through to church unity was the Crusade for a United Church of America conducted by Dr. E. Stanley Jones, with meetings in more than 30 larger cities, Rev. Wierth stated. In the closing part of his talk he showed that in spite of advances, many persons are discouraged because "a surprising number of church people" seem to regard these efforts as "heretical, communistic, and by and large a sort of ecclesiastical den of iniquity bent upon corrupting doctrine, upsetting the social order and Stalinizing" the churches.

It was announced by Frank Gegenheimer that next week Dr. Hastings Eells, professor of history at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, who has been heard here previously, will speak on "The Crisis of Our Age." The public is invited, with the only restriction that reservations for luncheon are to be made by calling the Y before the previous Tuesday noon.

The Memoirs of Cordell Hull

Demand of Russia For 16 UN Votes Opposed by U.S.

By CORDELL HULL

(Copyright, 1948, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

INSTALLMENT XXXIV

AN ENTIRELY new and startling proposal was unexpectedly injected into the discussions by the Soviet Representative, Ambassador Gromyko, as the second week of the Dumbarton Oaks conference opened on August 28, 1944.

The discussion, in the steering committee of the conference, was revolving around the question of what nations should be initial members of the organization. Both the Russians and ourselves said that the members should be the United Nations and the associated nations. However, there emerged a basic difference of interpretation. We meant that the members should be all the signatories to the United Nations Declaration, together with eight other nations that had not declared war against the Axis but had been materially helping the Allies in the prosecution of the war—helping more, in fact, than some of the Allies themselves. These were six Latin American Republics, Iceland and Egypt. The Russians said the members should be the 26 original signatories to the United Nations Declaration, and they defined associate nations as being those which had signed the Declaration subsequently. They did not wish to include the eight nations we mentioned. Our discussion on this latter point was proving inconclusive, and, in fact, the conference ended with it still unsolved.

At the same time, Ambassador Gromyko, without previous notice, said to the steering committee that all 16 republics comprising the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics should be made initial members of the United Nations organization. Russia would therefore have 16 votes. He left Under Secretary Stettinius and Under Secretary Cadogan (head of the British delegation—Editor's note) breathless, but they lost no time in telling him that his proposal would raise great difficulties.

WHEN STETTINIUS reported this to the President, Mr. Roosevelt said emphatically that the United States could under no conditions accept such a proposal. He instructed Stettinius to explain to Gromyko that it would present untold complications, and that it was just as logical for us to ask for the admission of the 48 states of the Union as it was to agree to admit the 16 Soviet Republics.

When Stettinius reported it to me, I said I was amazed that such a proposal had been made. I added that no such questions had ever entered the minds of any of us in the American group who had been working on post-war planning. I concluded by saying I would oppose it with all my strength.

On Aug. 29 Stettinius reported to Gromyko the substance of his conversations with the President and me and stated that it was our opinion that the suggestion was out of order and that to press it at this time might jeopardize the success of the conference. Stettinius appealed to Gromyko to withdraw his suggestion and that, if the Soviet government had such a thing in mind it should more properly present it to the council of the United Nations organization after its creation.

Gromyko proved most cooperative. He said he had raised the point merely to advise us and the British that his government has the matter in mind. He agreed that there should be no further reference to it during the conference. Nevertheless, he indicated that on some other occasion his government would probably raise the question again.

The fact that the Soviet government had such a question of multiple membership in mind was disturbing. I accordingly asked Ambassador Gromyko to come to see me on Aug. 31, at which time I stated to him as plainly as possible the manifold objections I saw to the suggestion he had raised on behalf of his government.

I SAID TO HIM, in effect, that this proposal would "blow off the roof." The large nations, I commented, that would have to furnish leadership and the military force for the organization would have no difficulty in getting their views listened to, whether they had one vote or many votes. The United States, I added, did not think to have more than one vote and we nevertheless felt that our influence would enable us at all times to assert ourselves.

We prepared at the state department that same day a message on the subject to be sent by the President to Stalin. The President approved it, with the addition of a sentence saying that our position did not prejudice later discussion of the question after the organization had been formed, at which time it would have full authority to deal with the question.

This question of plural Russian membership was mentioned once more by Gromyko toward the end of the conference, and thereafter was not again raised prior to my resignation in November, 1944. At no time did the Soviets take up with me their later request for the admission of the White Russian and Ukrainian Republics, to which President Roosevelt agreed at the Yalta conference. Had they done so, I would have opposed it.

In all our discussions we strove to keep this proposal absolutely secret. Even in our own memoranda we referred to it as the "X matter." It seemed to me so explosive an issue that, if it got out, it would inevitably be dramatized by forces of opposition everywhere and do injury to Russia's situation as well as to that of the conference.

STETTINIUS AND I met with the President at the White House on Sept. 6 to discuss the principal outstanding points at issue at Dumbarton Oaks. Mr. Roosevelt first brought up the question of the location of the new organization. His view was that the various organs of the organization should meet at various spots around the globe.

He thought that the secretariat of the organization might be established at Geneva, but that neither the council nor the assembly meetings should be held there. He believed that the assembly should meet in a different city each year, and that the council should have perhaps two regular meeting places, one being in the Azores in the middle of the Atlantic and the other on an island in the Hawaiian group in the middle of the Pacific. He felt that the International Court of Justice should return to The Hague.

The President was serious in stating these ideas, and he said he was planning to discuss them with Prime Minister Churchill whom he was to meet in Quebec for the second Quebec conference later in the month. The state department prepared maps and memos on the suggested locations in the Azores and on the Island of Niihau, Hawaii, and the President expected to take them to Quebec with him.

Mr. Roosevelt had given much thought to this question of the location of the United Nations, and this was not the first time he had mentioned his ideas to me. He felt that locating the council in the Azores or the Hawaiian islands would bring the benefit of detachment from the world. Being at heart a naval man, he liked the perspective obtained from surveying the world from an island out at sea. He had been eager, in the later Thirties, to promote a meeting of the heads of nations on a battleship or on an island such as one of the Azores. He felt that, with the council located far out at sea, it would not be subject to the pressure of any country. He recalled the Paris Peace conference and the pressures to which it had been subjected by virtue of being held in a great capital. He felt that the League of Nations had been subjected to pressure when it was first located in London before being moved to Geneva.

IN ESSENCE, HE SAID, he wanted to establish something in the nature of an international District of Columbia. (I often found the President stating his views on foreign events in terms of comparisons with situations in the United States. The most striking example was contained in his speeches in 1940 and 1941 when he compared the ease with which Axis planes could fly from Dakar to Brazil with the ease with which planes could fly from city to city in the United States.)

It was illogical, however, thus to scatter the international organization throughout the world, and we never seriously pressed these ideas at the Dumbarton Oaks conference. In any event, this was a question to be decided not by the four major nations but by the full membership of the future organization.

We also discussed with the President a Russian proposal that an international air force be constituted under the United Nations organization and commanded by the Council. Stettinius and I explained the position of the American delegation that we should oppose an international air force and advanced our proposal by having air force contingents of the different nations available for service on a combined basis at a moment's notice. This was in line with a statement the President had made on June 15 that an international police force would not be set up. The President agreed that we should adhere to our position. Stettinius indicated to Mr. Roosevelt that this question might be raised with him at Quebec by Prime Minister Churchill because we had heard that Mr. Churchill had been somewhat impressed by the Soviet proposal.

WE LIKEWISE DISCUSSED a Soviet proposal that small countries which were unable to contribute armed forces to the security organization should be required to contribute territory for bases. Both the President and I strongly objected to this provision as being an infringement on the sovereign rights of smaller countries. We felt that all acts of this type should be voluntary and that smaller nations should not be compelled to provide bases. Russia's idea, however, was given some recognition in the provision in the Dumbarton Oaks proposals, calling for special agreements to place at the disposal of the security council "facilities" as well as armed forces and other assistance.

Fish Variety for Lent

BROILED FISH FILLETS . . . The trick is in the sauce . . .

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Although there are actually about 160 varieties of fish sold throughout the country, the average family in the United States uses only about six of them on the dinner table. This Lent why not try a kind of fish you've never served before? This is the time, too, to try different ways of preparing familiar varieties. Besides its appropriateness for Lenton tables, fish is an economical, high-quality protein food that can help stretch budgets.

The most common fault in preparing fish of all kinds is overcooking. A good test for telling whether fish fillets are done is if they flake easily with a fork; when fish with bones is being cooked you should be careful to see that it flakes easily from the bone and is a uniform color throughout. Cooking fish only until it is done insures its being moist and tender and brings out its delicate flavor.

One of the most readily-accepted ways of serving fish is creamed—especially when it's coupled with another well-liked food. Served in pastry shells or over hot baking-powder biscuits, with pimiento or olives or hard-cooked egg added, it usually makes a hit. If you are using home-cooked rather than canned fish for such a dish, it's well to remember that one pound of fillets will make about two cups of flaked cooked fish.

Almost more than any other food, fish that is fried, sauteed or broiled needs garnishing. I know people who go into frenzies if fish cooked in this way and served without a sauce is unaccompanied by a wedge of lemon. Since there are so many garnishes that "go with" fish it's usually not hard to find something in the refrigerator to accompany it. Here are some of the garnishes that make fish most attractive and are most popular; fortunately there are always a few of them in season, no matter what the time of year.

When it comes to something green, parsley and watercress head the list. But do you know the little professional trick of using these garnishes? Hide the stems. Tuck them in under the fish and let only the curly green head of the parsley and the bright smooth green of the watercress leaves show on the platter.

Green pepper and cucumbers are, of course, the other two green vegetables that do worlds for fish. Both of them not only add color but give good texture contrast with their crunchiness. They are most attractive for garnishing when cut in thin rings.

When garnishing with that other primary color, red, tomatoes and radishes are favorites. If you are a window-pot gardener you may have some chives or basil to chop finely and sprinkle over the tomato slices. Or dribbled with a little olive oil and basil vinegar, seasoned with salt and freshly-ground pepper, these tomatoe slices make any plain fish dish taste wonderful. Serve radishes whole or slice them thinly to circle a fish flatter along with a leafy green.

In the east many people like tartar sauce—mayonnaise mixed with chopped pickle and sometimes other seasonings—with fish fillets; others reserve it for seafood such as scallops or shrimp. An interesting use of tartar sauce with broiled fish is given in the following recipe—and the results are shown in the accompanying photograph. The broiled-on sauce gives the fillets one of the most beautiful golden-brown toppings I have ever seen. Small boiled new potatoes sprinkled with chopped parsley complete the picture.

Broiled Fish Fillets with Puffy Sauce

8 very thin skinned fish fillets (about 1 pound), 1 egg white, ½ cup commercially - prepared mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons pickle relish.

Remove pan from broiling compartment and put rack aside; aluminum foil may be placed on pan to hold fillets for ease in removing fish and washing pan. Wipe fillets with a damp cloth and place on pan. Preheat broiling compartment for 10 minutes or follow directions given by range manufacturer. Beat egg white until it is stiff enough to hold peaks when rotary beater is withdrawn. Fold in mayonnaise and pickle relish in several additions. Place broiling pan with fish fillets a few inches from source of heat and broil for about 5 minutes, until just about cooked through. Remove pan from broiler, put about 2 tablespoons of egg white mixture on each fillet and spread: Mixture will be runny. Put pan back in broiler and broil about 3 minutes longer, until sauce has puffed and is golden-brown; watch carefully or topping will burn. Serve immediately. 4 servings.

CALVARY BROTHERHOOD PLANS FOR ACTIVITIES

Activities of the executive committee of the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church brotherhood were arranged at a meeting Tuesday night in the home of Rev. R. W. Faulkner, pastor, and Mrs. Faulkner on South Vine street. Meeting with the officers, who include J. W. Baker, president, George Bensley, vice president, Charles Chappell, secretary and Harry Crowner, treasurer, were departmental chairmen. Plans were laid for the rest of the conference year which ends July 31.

A committee was appointed to divide men of the organization into groups of 10, with a leader appointed for each. The secretary was authorized to write for a charter by which the group will receive recognition from the church's general board of Christian education. Chairmen were delegated various responsibilities. Ed Sprow, for devotional life, was asked to promote the development of devotional life by the members, including the family altar in the home, and interest in revival efforts. Fred Dutt, for Christian training, is to get together and train a men's chorus, and arrange Gospel teams to call on ill and absent members, and send deputations to other churches. Paul Lister, for Christian service, will promote the Zimmer fund, to help sponsor the missionary work of Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Zimmer in China. Among duties of Dwight Goff, for Christian fellowship, will be the arranging of a father-son banquet in April.

A called meeting of the brotherhood will be held Wednesday night, March 31, in the downstairs auditorium of the church, in charge of the executive committee, it was announced.

quently referring to the new organization as "The United Nations." We had long since used this title in some of our drafts. The President felt this should be its name, and we agreed that the name under which two score nations were fighting the war to a successful conclusion was a happy title under which to work together following their victory. When Stettinius proposed this to the conference, however, we met with unexpected opposition by both the Russians and the British. Gromyko tentatively suggested the name "World Union." Cadogan said he did not believe his government particularly liked the title "United Nations" and had thought at one time of proposing a title including the word "Union." (A few days later both Russia and Britain accepted the name "United Nations."—Editor's note.)

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, ✝ THE HOPE of Glory

THE CROSS STILL OFFENDS US!

Matthew 26:31. Then said Jesus unto them, All ye shall be offended in Me this night"

THE church has quite successfully taken the sting out of the cross. It is a soul-moving emblem now. We erect it on our church spires, adorn our altars with it and even wear it as ornament. When we sing about it in the lines of Sir John Bowring—"In the cross of Christ I glory"—we feel the lift of high and holy emotion. We have quite successfully tamed it and made it the central symbol of organized religion.

However, when we confront Jesus and ponder deeply what He taught about the price we have to pay for following Him our complacency vanishes. The cross of Jesus meant the inevitable result of taking the gospel out into the world. Multitudes heard Him gladly but there were many who did not so respond. The world is full of people who do not want their privilege or power disturbed.

It is the price we have to pay which we are never able easily to accept. Why should good and devoted people have to suffer. We want appreciation and commendation when we carry on in Christ's name. But when we challenge the evils of our time we must not forget that the price is a cross

CRITICIZES MARSHALL. Former Ambassador to the Soviet Union, William C. Bullitt tells congressional hearing on aid to China that Secretary of State George C. Marshall "dishonored the pledge of the United States" when he was special ambassador to China by not supporting the Chinese government militarily. Urging immediate arms for China, Bullitt declared that Russia is "in preparation for attack on the U.S."

SOLICITOR INVESTIGATED

Upper Sandusky police today were investigating a report a magazine subscription solicitor there had represented herself as a senior in Harding High school in Marion, telling a prospective customer she was attempting to raise funds for further education. Lester L. Dickey, Marion superintendent of schools, said the venture had no connection with the high school. In Upper Sandusky today the chief of the solicitation crew said the girl had been discharged and had returned to her home in Dayton.

GRAIN MARKET

Local Grain Market

(Producers Livestock Cooperative Association Quotations)

Wednesday price after 2 p. m.: Wheat 2.38; No. 3 white oats 1.10.

Range

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 4 — Grains opened sharply higher on the board of trade today. The rise followed the overnight announcement by the agriculture department that it had asked for offers of flour equivalent to 9,300,000 bushels of wheat. The May wheat contract was up as much as 10 cents the daily limit, at the opening.

Trading was active and price changes were rapid. After the start, fairly heavy selling entered May wheat and it dropped about five cents from opening levels. Other contracts of wheat, as well as of other grains, did not show as great an opening gain and did not decline from the opening levels.

Wheat started 2½ to 10 cents higher, May $2.50-52⅝. After five minutes of trading May wheat was at $2.48½. Corn started two to three cents higher, May $2.29-2.30, and oats were 1⅛-3⅛ higher, May 1.17½-1.18. Soybeans were eight cents higher, March $3.77.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 4 — Efforts to develop a definite trend continued unsuccessful in today's stock market.

While a few oils, utilities and industrials managed to keep on the recovery side by fractions, many leaders slipped a shade. Dealings slowed after a fairly active start and the direction was cloudy near midday.

Ahead at intervals were Sinclair Oil, Mission Corp., Standard Oil (NJ), American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Bethlehem Steel, Montgomery Ward and Phelps Dodge. Commonwealth & Southern opened unchanged on a 12,000-share block.

Hesitant were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Boeing, Distillers Corps., Anaconda, Kennecott, Eastman Kodak, Twentieth Century-Fox, Warner Bros., Loew's, Illinois Central and Southern Railway.

ST. MARY kept a steady pace in their drive against Sunbury yesterday . . . They scored 11 points in each quarter for a solid 44 . . . One of the "finds" of the game was Jim "Moose" Moloney, who played a bang-up game at guard . . . Cach Gene Fetter said Moose will probably start against Pleasant at Westerville . . . Moloney, a senior, has had some off nights in the past season, but suddenly sprang to life yesterday, showing himself a demon for pulling in the rebounds . . . He worked on Sunbury's scoring ace, Bob Metzger, holding the Delaware county scoring champ to four goals . . . The Irish stayed over in Westerville after the game to watch Pleasant take Mt. Gilead . . . They also scouted the Granville-Midway tilt.

JOHNNY BALDAUF, who threw the Irish a scare when he felt school yesterday morning with a stomach ache, is OK . . . He had a blood check to see if he had appendicitis, but didn't . . . He'll be with the Irish in their fight to stay in the tourney Saturday.

FETTER termed the Pleasant-Mt. Gilead scrape the best game he's seen this season . . . Both teams were up for the tournament game and played brilliant ball . . . The lead seesawed back and forth, but Pleasant capped to win in the last few seconds when Mt. Gilead's Pete Campbell failed to send in a layup shot after he raced down the floor with the ball and stood alone under the basket.

THE PLEASANT-IRISH clash Saturday at 1 p. m. should be one of the best contests of the day . . . The two teams battled it out once before this season, and the Irish emerged the winner, 39-28, although Pleasant gave them a rough time of it.

ALMOST all the tourney games yesterday were decided by a few points . . . The Irish won by eight points, Pleasant by one, and Morral lost to London by five . . . Ashley went down to Lancaster St. Mary by two points, and Granville picked Midway by four . . . The only big winner was Columbus St. Mary over Pickaway Township, 55-36, for a 19-point margin.

St. Mary Drops Sunbury, 44-36; Pleasant Nicks Mt. Gilead, 46-45, in Tourney

They'll Meet at Otterbein Saturday; Morral Goes Down to London, 45-40

Marion St. Mary opened yesterday's action in the central district class B basketball tournament at Westerville with a 44-36 triumph over Sunbury and Pleasant added another win for Marion county an hour later, setting down Mt. Gilead 46-45, in a very close fray. Morral went down to London, 45-40, in an evening game.

The wins kept three of the four county entries in the running. Caledonia, who trounced Delaware St. Mary, 72-30, in the opening day of play Tuesday, will meet Brown Township this afternoon at 5. Pleasant and St. Mary will battle it out Saturday at 1 p. m.

St. Mary won their first tourney contest by what is considered a large margin in tournaments—eight points.

The third quarter decided the game as St. Mary outpointed Sunbury 11-3.

Jim "Moose" Moloney was a big help in the Irish victory when he replaced Dan Smith who was having a bad day. Moloney, relieving Smith and Bob Stuber alternately the first half and Smith the second half, helped very much to stop Metzger from scoring any baskets in the second half.

Baldauf Gives Scare

John Baldauf gave Coach Fetter and all the St. Mary fans a scare yesterday when he left school because of a severe stomach ache. He received a checkup and was okayed for the afternoon game.

Forward Dick Schuler got off to a good start in the try for tournament recognition, making 17 points to lead both teams in scoring.

Sunbury's Metzger, who was the big figure in Sunbury's 38-29 victory over St. Mary during the regular season, swished 15 tallies and led the Wildcats in scoring.

Sunbury's zone defense, which they used successfully to defeat St. Mary on their small court, proved less effective on Otterbein's large floor.

The Irish sank 16 out of 26 charity tosses beating Sunbury who netted 14 free throws out of 24 tries.

Carter gave the Wildcats a two point lead to score the first points of the game and then Dick Drake tied it up with a field goal. St. Mary held a slim 11-10 advantage at the end of the first quarter. The Irish points were five by Schuler, four by Baldauf, two by Drake and two by Smith. Metzger scored four markers and Carter and Ward each three for the Wildcats.

Tie in Second Period

The teams tied at 11-all in the second stanza. The Irish points came off baskets by Schuler, Baldauf and Drake, and free throws by Schuler, Baldauf and Smith. Metzger, Carter and Ward scored for Sunbury.

The Wildcats experienced a very lean third period, collecting only three points while the Irish made 11. Schuler, Baldauf and Drake teamed up to send in the markers for the locals, while Metzger made all of Sunbury's counters on free throws.

Wildcat guard Gray sent in a seven-point barrage in the last frame as Sunbury outscored the locals, 12-11. Moloney led the Irish in this quarter with five markers.

Pleasant Has Tough Time

Pleasant's county consolation finalist had a tough time of it in eliminating Mt. Gilead, just edging the fighting Indians one point, 46-45. Mt. Gilead, paced by center McCarty, jumped to a 17-13 first period lead, but slowed in the second as the Townshippers hit for 13 points while allowing only eight, to go ahead 26-25 at the half.

Charles Mayer, hitting consistently from around the foul circle, made 14 points to take game honors, and Ron Gorby, playing a sterling game of defensive ball, ran second with a 12 point barrage. McCarty racked 12 to top the Gilead scoring.

Pleasant held a five point edge at the automatic time out, but the Gileads scored two fast fielders to cut the lead to one point, and in the final seconds missed a sucker shot as Pleasant took the rebound as the gun went off.

Pleasant will oppose Marion St. Mary Saturday at 1 p. m.

Training Camp High Spots

By The United Press

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 4—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants, seeking to discover the pitching talent his team so sorely missed last season, planned today to use 10 young hurlers in exhibition games against the Cleveland Indians on Saturday and Sunday.

Of the 10, Bill Ayers and Earl McGowan were regarded as the most likely to stay in the majors.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 4—Manager Bill Meyer planned a stiff infield drill for his Pittsburgh Pirates today, giving the overworked batters a rest after three days in the hitting cage.

The Pirates had an easy day yesterday, going through a light workout in the morning while photographers snapped pictures of club vice president Bing Crosby.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4 — Members of the New York Yankees wondered today whether rookie third-baseman Jerry Coleman was serious when he asked for—and got—an opportunity to try pitching.

Coleman pitched to batting practice yesterday. Several of the Yanks said they hoped he became as capable as another third-baseman turned pitcher—Bucky Walters of Cincinnati.

TAMPA, Fla., March 4—The signing of pitcher Johnny Vander Meer and catcher Ray Lamanno today left only two members of the Cincinnati Reds still not in camp—Augie Galan and Dutch Mele.

Vander Meer and Lamanno went through their first workouts yesterday. National League President Ford Frick was a visitor at the drill.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 4—The training camp of the Detroit Tigers was favorably impressed today with the slugging of rookie outfielders Johnny Groth and Ed Merkiewicz.

Gorth hit two pitches over the 345-foot field wall yesterday, and Merkiewicz, hit one 430 feet over the same fence.

THE PLEASANT TOWNSHIP basketball team, one of the county's outstanding cage aggregations, meet another Marion power in St. Mary at 1 p. m. Saturday in the central district basketball tournament at Westerville. Champs of the county league, Pleasant has lost but two games to Marion teams during the season. St. Mary nicked them in a non-league fray, and Morral did it in the county tournament. Pleasant was undefeated in the regular county league play, and won the county consolation tournament.

2 Top Redleg Pitchers To Show Wares Sunday

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., March 4—Two of the big boys on the Cincinnati pitching staff will be given opportunity to show their stuff against Detroit Sunday in the Reds opening game of the Grapefruit league.

Manager Johnny Neun said today he probably would start Ewell Blackwell, six foot-six inch right-hander, who was on the top of the major league heap last year with 22 victories and eight defeats.

The other big boy set to heave 'em at the Tigers is Howard Fox, who measures a shade over six feet-three.

Fox was the winningest pitcher in the International league last season with a 19-9 record and is back this season trying for a regular berth with the Redlegs.

Schlairet Transfer won the Y.M.C.A. Monday Night league championship last night in a playoff game with McMillen Feed, 48-42. Both teams played slow cautious ball during the first quarter, with Schlairet getting a little the better of it, posting a 11-9 lead going into the second canto.

TO BOWL AT ASHTABULA

Leffler's Jewelry and Modern Market bowling teams will journey to Ashtabula, O., to roll in the inter-city bowling tournament Feb 6 and 7. They are the first of the local keglers to make the trip.

FARMER JONES WRESTLES TONIGHT

A double main event has been signed tonight at the armory that should please all the fans and especially Red Lyons. After last week's match Lyons was "burned up" by the Farmer slugging him when Red thought he had won Now Lyons wants a return match with winner-take-all and the Farmer thought that a swell idea for that makes a double payoff to the winner and the Farmer says he will be that winner. This match has all the earmarks of being one of the roughest seen here.

The other 90 minute match should be just the opposite for the fans who like their wrestling fast and clever. Bill Murray, the popular young Canadian who has many fans here, will meet a newcomer from New York, Al Alexander. Al is said to be just as fast and clever as Jackie Nichols and that is saying a lot. The 10-minute prelim at 8:30 has the Barlow Brothers trying again to see who is the paperweight champ of that family. Prices (all taxes paid) for this all star card are 50 cents, 75 cents and $1.00. Call 2745 after six for your best seats.—Adv.

Stand a Good Chance To Cop Pennant If They Can Find Another Top Pitcher

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., March 4—As they stand, the Cleveland Indians appear a cinch to climb a notch into third place in the coming American league race.

If they finally succeed in landing Detroit out of a "name" pitcher, or if they find another big winner among several fairly likely prospects on their own roster, they could be a potent factor in the scramble for the flag.

Though their deals were not so highly publicized as those of the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees, the Indians did very well for themselves during the past winter.

A great many baseball men think President Bill Veeck made the smartest deal of the winter when he obtained Allie Clark, a brilliant outfield prospect, from the Yanks in exchange for Red Embree, who on the record is only an average good pitcher.

Still others believe Walt Judnich, picked up from the wreckage of the St. Louis Browns, will prove to be the far-ranging ballhawk in centerfield the Indians have so sorely needed for years.

The addition of Johnny Berardino, also from the Browns, gives the club infield insurance such as only a handful of clubs can boast—or afford.

The Yankees apparently parted with Clark only because they felt they had to have another starting pitcher to match the buying spree of their deadly rivals, the Red Sox.

Flock of Outfielders

The Indians have a flock of outfielders in camp, among them Larry Doby, the first Negro to play in the American league, and such other luminaries as Pat Seerey, Hank Edwards and Hal Peck. But the best guess is that, when the season starts, Clark will be in right, Judnich in center and Dale Mitchell, who hit .316 in his first full season, in left.

Least of Boudreau's worries is, of course, his infield. Defensively it is the best in the game today—if not of all time—having helped set a new major league team fielding record of 983 last season.

The young playing manager himself is regarded widely as the best shortstop in the game today. His .982 fielding mark last year was a new American league record, and he hit a valuable .307.

Hank Greenberg, a first sacker of better than local repute, is working out with the Indians and conferring earnestly with owner Veeck.

Ashland Chosen for Rat Control Demonstration

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Ashland, O., is one of the cities named for a rat control demonstration this month.

Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug said Ashland already has a rat control program in operation enabling it to serve as a training center for personnel in nearby communities.

The demonstration is part of a national urban rat control campaign.

the county tournament, dropped out of district competition last night, losing to a determined London five, 45-40.

Trailing 8-6 in the opening quarter, the Wildcats got their attack underway in the second period to take a two point lead, 18-16, at the half, but faltered in the third when they were outscored by seven points.

Coach Norman Weston's boys then stayed even in the final frame, 11-11, but were unable to overcome the deficit incurred in the third quarter and lost the ball game

Berl Kilborn and Fred McCumber each netted 12 points to tie for scoring honors.

In the final contest of the evening Lancaster St. Mary shaded Ashley, 61-59.

In other games at the tournament, Columbus St. Mary eliminated Pickaway Township, 55-36, and Granville nicked Midway, 54-50.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., March 4—The Cincinnati Reds may not have the best ball club in the majors (who said "may not" they don't.) But the chances are they have the biggest . . . Of 38 players of the roster, 27 are six feet or more tall and two of the others are less than a half-inch under. . . .

Tallest is 6-6, 190-pound Ewell Blackwell, but another pitcher, Walker Cress, up from New Orleans, is 6-5, and trainer Dr Wilbur Bohm is about 6-5 and weighs 285 pounds . . . It looks like a blooming basketball squad . . . Even Jewel Ens, the Syracuse manager who saw him play last season, was surprised to see how tall shortstop Red Stallcup looks on the practice field. He's listed at 6-3 and has a lanky, almost awkward way of moving around, but he gets in front of the ball . . .

WARREN GILES, the Reds head man, happened to glance at the dog track entries the other day and noticed one greyhound owned by the Blackwell Kennels . . . "I ought to go out there and bet on him," commented Warren. "Blackwell—I don't know any better place to put my money."

THE REDS plan to stage a scientific experiment on the results of baseball television next summer, televising all weekday games and four of their seven Sunday games. They plan to pair up the Sunday games that are close and those that aren't as closely as possible and then compare attendance . . . Ewell Blackwell's 16-game winning streak doesn't look too hot to one rookie pitcher in camp here. Harry Perkowski won 17 straight for Ogden, Utah, in 1946 . . . Bucky Walters will be 38 years old on opening day, April 19, and Hank Sauer will be 29 on St. Patrick's day . . . The Reds, incidentally, will spend St Pat's in St. Pete.

SON OF MARIONITES WINS MEDAL OF MERIT

George David Seas, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Seas of near Marion, was one of four employes of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. honored recently with medals of merit. An award of the P. W. and Florence B. Lichfield medals for outstanding performance in each of four divisions of the firm was made by Mr. Lichfield, chairman of the company board. The four men honored were among 88 graduates of the production and engineering squadrons and apprentice mechanics. The event was held at the Mayflower hotel, and the awards were made before 500 employes, officials and friends of the company who attended. Mr. Seas has been working for the Akron company through the war years and to the present time, and his wife has been teaching school there.

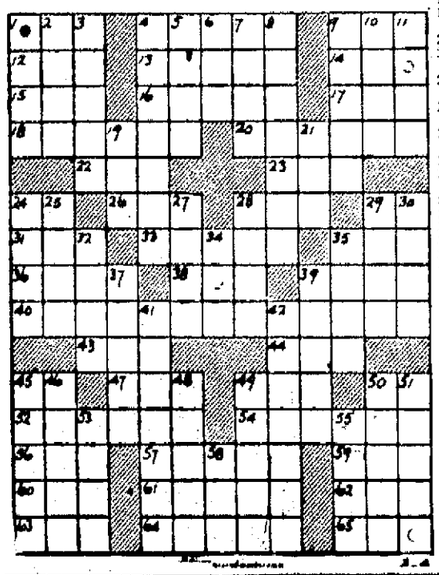
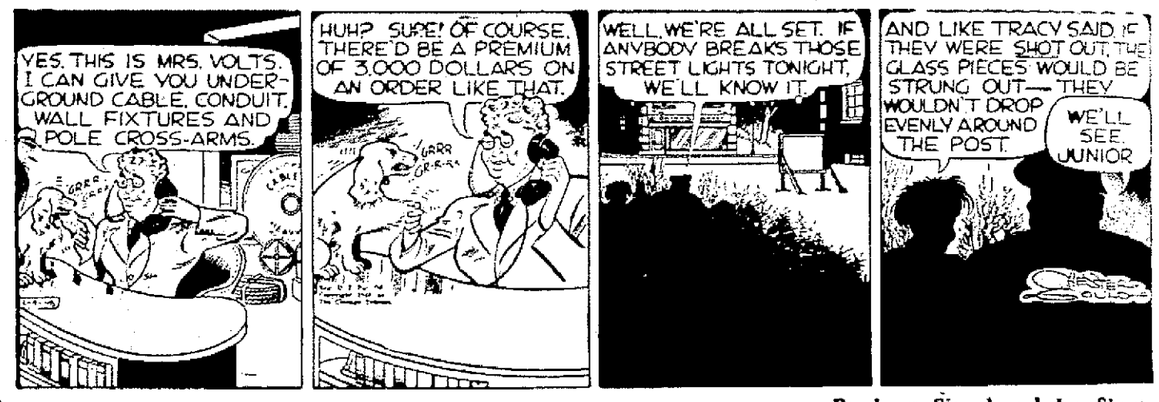
Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle



Dick Tracy By Chester Gould



YES, THIS IS MRS. VOLTS. I CAN GIVE YOU UNDERGROUND CABLE, CONDUIT, WALL FIXTURES AND POLE CROSS-ARMS.
HUH? SURE! OF COURSE, THERE'D BE A PREMIUM OF 3,000 DOLLARS ON AN ORDER LIKE THAT.
WELL, WE'RE ALL SET. IF ANYBODY BREAKS THOSE STREET LIGHTS TONIGHT, WE'LL KNOW IT.
AND LIKE TRACY SAID, IF THEY WERE SHOT OUT, THE GLASS PIECES WOULD BE STRUNG OUT— THEY WOULDN'T DROP EVENLY AROUND THE POST.
WE'LL SEE, JUNIOR

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

There seems to be nothing to the theory that people instinctively avoid known hazards ....Button shoes are coming back.

* * *

The last button shoes were seen in these parts in 1940 when Gov. Martin of Pennsylvania wore them to the Republican convention.

* * *

In fact it had been suspected that Willkie walked off with the nomination while the Dewey boys were studying the governor's shoes.

* * *

The button shoes and Republicans disappeared for eight years....And here they are again both strong prospects for the fall.

* * *

It turns out now that the "glorious world of the future" which we were promised for so many years is dated 1912.

* * *

When banjos, button shoes, long skirts and Jolson come back in the same year they can't tell us the blueprints were now.

HEY, LOTTIE, I'VE GOT A GOOD ONE FOR YOU. LISTEN TO THIS- A MAN, WHO WAS NO INTELLECTUAL GIANT, SAW A CIRCULAR ABOUT FABRICATED HOUSES
HE WAS SO FASCINATED WITH THE SUBJECT HE DREW ALL HIS MONEY OUT OF THE BANK AND ORDERED A HOUSE BY MAIL. A MONTH LATER HE WROTE THE COMPANY THAT THE HOUSE WAS A FAILURE
AN INSPECTOR CAME TO INVESTIGATE AND ROARED; "YOU CHUMP, YOU'VE PUT UP THE WHOLE THING UPSIDE DOWN!" "OH, THAT'S THE TROUBLE, IS IT?" PONDERED THE CUSTOMER. "NO WONDER I KEPT FALLING OFF THE PORCH!"
DID YOU SAY SOMETHING, RODMAN?
